

We are pleased to share that we are changing our name to Spectrum Therapeutics.

Hello –

We are pleased to share that we are changing our name to Spectrum Therapeutics.

Why are we changing our name?

We have always been a company that provides more than medical cannabis to our customers. In addition to a wide and ever-expanding range of medical cannabis products, we also offer education for patients and healthcare professionals and are engaged in research and development. Our new name better reflects our position as a healthcare company that aims to meet the medical needs of our patients around the world.

As a medical company, our goal is to look after your healthcare needs, which includes engaging in more research into the safety and efficacy of medical cannabis and the development of new cannabis-based treatments. Up until now, Canopy Growth's subsidiary, Canopy Health Innovations, has led our clinical research efforts and the development of cannabinoid-based medicines aimed to improve the quality of life and health of those suffering from acute and chronic illnesses. Beginning today, Canopy Health Innovations and these important research activities will become part of Spectrum Therapeutics.
